"CHEAP JOHN."- The trial of H. R. Winter, on the charge of obtaining goods under false pretenses, took place at St. Joseph, on Friday and Saturday, result ing in his acquittal, as was expected—not from any belief in his innocence, but because of the signs of the times. Jews in St. Joseph enlisted in his behalf, em-ployed counsel, and seemed on remarkably intimate terms with those occupying high positions. We unlerstand that several of them swore that Winter has over $5,000 worth of goods in his store, as he repre sented; while persons here, who were familiar wit his stock, swore that he did not have half that amount Yet the testimony of his confederates was accepted in preference to that of the others. Esquire Fairall's court was the scene of a trial, or rather a series of trials, running through the greate part of last week. Wm. Making Soap with Concentrated Lye. Almost all housewives complain of their inability o make a good article of soap from the use of the concentrated lye sold by merchants and grocers; yet, if made rightly, it is the purest, cheapest, and s simple, and requires very little trouble: For every five pounds of grease, use one box of concentrate lye, and one quart of water. First put the lye in the water, and when thoroughly dissolved, add the grease Boil the ingredients not over one-half hour. Set asid till cool, and cut out in cakes of snitable size. As in a fire the loss greatly depends upon the time required for efficient aid to arrive, so the result of catarrh greatly depends upon the speedy use of efficient remedies. For over a quarter of a century, Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy has been the standard remedy. The positive curse it has effected are numbered by thousands. Each year has witnessed an increased sale. Its reputation is the result of superior merit. If the disease has extended to the throat of lungs, Qr. Pisnos's fluiden Medical Injustery should be used gith the Catarrh Resuedy. These two medicials will pesodily cure the most stubborn case of catarrh. See the People's Common Sense Redical Adviser, a work of over 500 pages. Price, $1.50. Address the author, R. V. Pierre, M. The City Council have completed a great work, lengthy, but narrow construction, which is termed by the masses a "narrow-gange" side-walk. The city en using all the economy that a financiering body old invent for this noble work. They have been aving all the nickels, dimes and twenty-cent pieces for about one year, to complete that expensive work The time finally arrived when the contract was to be let to the lowest bidder. Quite a number of scaled bids were made, and it was awarded to Rector and Earhart for six dollars thirty-seven cents and five mills of lawful money. The plank, pine, about eight one plank wide; underneath, a short chunk of wood three by four, to give the plank a spring, nailed at of the plank to the other. This noble construction commences at the terminus of the broad-gauge sid walk, near the old mill bridge, running north tw hundred and forty feet, thence south the same num ber of feet, thence north the same, till it intersect the next broad-gauge opposite the Railroad frog. The city police are to keep a diligent watch for pe destrians coming down the walk, that they do run into one another. Every person is compelled to walk single file, and not to talk behind each other back. Two pedestrians meeting, have to swing each other around in opposite directions, and not to fall off at their peril. A photograph of the City Counc and work can be seen at the Post-office.

It only shows he would like to know; and he confesses to meddling, and hopes to continu to do so, with other people's business, not only with the liquor traffic, but other things. But we might fill a whole column in telling how hard the origina-tors of the Good Templare Lodge worked to get organized, and keep it alive for a year before Fanatic joined, a few weeks ago. Since then, he has done more wind-work than all the other members together, since they organized. He goes so far as to quote Scripture for our benefit, but as we are not versed in that line, we shall have to quote from Ayer's Alma-nne, which reads like this: "It is the empty kettles that rattle."

The Atchison District Conference Convened at Hiawatha, on last Wednesday morning, Rev. C. Holman presiding. Rev. R. Wake was elected secretary.

The opening sermon was preached by Rev. E. W. VanDeventer, on Tuesday evening, on the Light, Conquests & Immertality of the Gospel. There was a good attendance, both of ministers and laymen, from various parts of the District, which embraces the four contiguous Counties from the river to the Big Blue, and a part of Atchison County.

The written report of the Presiding Elder showed the District to contain twenty-five church buildings and thirteen parsonages, three of each having been erected the past year. The pastors present made verbal reports of the condition of their several charges, which showed encouraging progress in the various departments of church enterprise. Several charges and parsonages had been consisted were charged to the charge of the charges and parsonages had been consisted. churches and parsonages had been completed, some were building, some were liquidating church debts; and others were engaged in revival work. The report from Seneca indicated a glorious revival in rogress there-sixty-four having been added to the church, many more interested, and the good work still going forward.

The programme of literary exercises, including about a dozen performances on various subjects, and the discussions elicited, were unusually interesting. Those of Rev. E. W. VanDeventer, on the "Best Method of Church Finances," and of Rev. J. A. Simpson, on the "Highest Pulpit Efficiency," were requested published in the Central, of St. Louis. The ermon of Rev. R. Wake, on Wednesday evening, was a philosophical discussion of David's question, (Psa, 8-34,) "What is man, that thou art m
